PREFACE

As before, the Catalogue consists of three parts: a chronological, a geographical and an alphabetical list.

The chronological list contains the names and addresses of the former members of the School who are still living and the names and particulars of death of those who have died. In this list men are placed under the year in which they left the School.

The geographical list contains only the names of the living and is intended to serve as a lawyers' guide. To this end a (†) is placed before the names of men who are not in active practice. Men whose names are printed in small capitals are members of the Harvard Law School Association.

The alphabetical list contains the names of all past members of the School with the date upon which each man entered and left the School and the place from which he registered. This serves as an index to the chronological list (e. g., if a man left in 1860 it is only necessary to turn to the year 1860 in the chronological list to find his address, if living, or if not, the particulars of his death).

The Catalogue contains 15,135 names, 2,064 more than the number in the last Quinquennial.

Past members of the School, and all others interested in the Catalogue, are urgently requested to report any errors, changes of address, and deaths to the editor.

Editor of the Harvard Law Quinquennial.
